THE WELLERMEN

NORTHERN SKY UK & EU TOUR

THE FOLK A CAPPELLA
SUPERGROUP THE WELLERMEN
ANNOUNCES GERMAN DATES FOR MAY 2025.

The bass-singing folk group The Wellermen, who were discovered during the viral sea shanty trend at the beginning of 2021, are going on their Northern Sky UK & EU Tour and will be giving three concerts in Germany in May 2025.

The four members of the Wellermen – Bobby Waters and Luke Taylor from the USA and Jonny Stewart and Sam Pope from the UK – originally only had one personal encounter with each other before they became famous through the duet of a seemingly harmless sea shanty song (“Wellerman”) on TikTok. Since then, the video has reached over 100 million views on various platforms worldwide. The Wellermen went on to appear at high-profile events and TV shows such as the Brit Awards, Ant & Dec's Saturday Night Take Away, Last Week Tonight With John Oliver, The Colbert Show and ABC News Australia.

With their sudden viral fame, The Wellermen raised money for a good cause and donated the proceeds from the song Wellerman to the Marine Conservation Society to give something back to the oceans.

Since then, the group has released their self-titled debut album, which includes numerous other viral hits, including “Misty Mountains,” “Nancy Mulligan,” and the phenomenon “Hoist The Colours," which reached #3 on the global TikTok Sound Charts in February 2024. With over 150 million streams and a global fan base of millions, the band has now become a fixture on the music scene.

After their first US tour in June 2024, The Wellermen will release their highly anticipated second album in winter 2024.

ABOUT THE WELLERMEN

Die vier Mitglieder der Wellermen – Bobby Waters und Luke Taylor aus den USA sowie Jonny Stewart und Sam Pope aus dem Vereinigten Königreich – hatten ursprünglich nur einmal persönlich miteinander zu tun, bevor sie durch das gemeinsame Duett eines scheinbar harmlosen Sea Shanty-Songs ("Wellerman") auf TikTok berühmt wurden. Seitdem hat das Video über 100 Millionen Aufrufe auf verschiedenen Plattformen weltweit erreicht. Die Wellermen traten daraufhin bei hochkarätigen Veranstaltungen und TV-Shows wie den Brit Awards, Ant & Dec's Saturday Night Take Away, Last Week Tonight With John Oliver, The Colbert Show und ABC News Australia auf.
